

Additional online information – Annual Report 2012

The Prince Charles Hospital Foundation is an equal opportunity employer which includes not discriminating on race or religion. Representation of women Directors at the Board level is 22%, meaning two of TPCHF's Directors of the total of 9 Directors are women. An additional two board members have been proposed, one of whom is a woman (bringing the total to 27%). Female representation amongst staff is strong with more than 50% of staff being women.

The Foundation is committed to recycling with recycling processes in place for both daily recycling and annual clear outs.

There has been no overseas travel by the Foundation or for the Foundation during 2011-2012.

Consultancies are used for specialist project work. Expenditure for 2011-2012 on consultancies was $8,800.

Records management is in line with Queensland Government policies. Information systems are supported by Queensland Health and paid for by the Foundation on a pro rata basis.